

BENE HEAD OFFICE WAIDHOFEN 2010 - A new wing is being added to the headquarters built by Ortner & Ortner for office furniture manufacturer Bene in 1989. The three-storey addition showcases just how great a contemporary office world can look and function. The structure's large glass façades make it stand out from the perforated façade of the main building. A depth of 22.5 metres makes it possible to present a wide range of different furnishing scenarios. The two upper floors are connected at the centre by apertures in the ceiling, and also have light shafts that bring in additional natural light.
