

PARKSIDE VORGARTENSTRASSE VIENNA 2016 - The planned long row of houses will be divided into three parts, resulting in a trio of urban villas, each with its own appearance and identity. The façade of each building is slightly different. Together, they form a piece of metropolitan living quality that comfortably distances itself from the surrounding architectural efforts to invent residential machines with expressive architecture.

Partner L.O.

